

(Somebody told me one time that Quannah Parker's first name was an Indian name?)

You know the meaning of that--"k^wana" means "smell". Smells, just nothing but smells. "It smells". "i k^wana". I don't know where he got that.

("feathers?")

"siaP "

(How would you say somebody's crazy?)

"bosa".

(I mean really crazy.)

bosa we.k "He's gone crazy". And when anybody's crazy they say, "bosa".

(rain?)

"t^{ma}na". "t^{ma}na^{ma}" means "It's raining".

(Now there's the eagle around here and the eagle with Medicine. How would you say that one?)

You mean the eagle that got Medicine?

(Yeah.)

You just say, "puhaka^tma". It means, "It's got Power".

(Do the Comanches have words for different tribes?)

Yeah.

(What do you call the Shoshone?)

"shoshonⁿ t^{na}".

(What do they call themselves?)

Shoshones.

(What do the Comanches call themselves?)

"t^{ma}na". It means "Indian." Anything--Arapahoes--not the Arapahoes, but the Comanches. "t^{ma}na^{ma}" means "Comanches". And there are certain group of each Comanches like that. They got names. We here are "y^{pe}" / We got a group of us. Our father's come from the "y^{pe}" Indians. Our father's come from the "y^{pe}" Indians. Our grandfather's are "y^{pe}". And there's another