

group--"kwahala" means those Indian people. They live out in the Plains. Out in the open in the hot sun. They live out like deers. Deer is antelope. "antelope" is "kwahala". And they live out on Plains like them antelopes and that's why they call them that. And you come down this way at Walter's you know, most of them is half-breeds, Mexicans--call them "wizepo". (What was that group way down south they called something like Penteka?) "penanu". " they come from eastern part of Oklahoma and way back in Texas. Far southeast part of Texas. That's where they used to live.

(Are they in with the Walter's people?)

No. They altogether different bunch. Now there's a very few of them living around Apache. Most of them live around Texas. Few of them living and all the old peoples are gone. And if they could put a claim in on that southeastern part of Texas they could get that because they live there all their lives. And they were captured from over there. The army went after them and brought them back to Ft. Sill. If they could put in that claim for that they would have a big drag out of it, but these "wizepo", they too young. They don't know nothing. Just like us here. We had that money up there all these years and nobody said nothing about it. The government just hide it, and just keep it away from us so we would-- You know, I don't know why in the world these white peoples are--our government and all these peoples in Washington, they don't want us to get rich. They sit on it. But when you sell land, it don't last but a little while. All you do is fix your house up and its gone. They mostly put it into somebody's house. They tell you "You have to build on your home and you have to do this and that--everything", and by the time your house is finished, your mone is gone. They don't--I don't know why they like that. They don't want us Comanche to get rich. They got lot of claims they could get with and we got a place up here they call--right west of here and Red River and over there that where that "wizepo" are, we could put in a claim for that. And here they went into the "yspe" and all our money and they draw money with it--with us. And when they put in a claim we could go in with them--on that money. But
