

and them pot. But they have some kind of iron--sticking out, and it kinda curl like that. They put a pot here. Hang down on the fireplace. They cook. And sometime they just have iron next to that fire. Have their pots around there. That's way they do. Now everybody's using house.

(Where did they keep their clothes?)

Clothes? Well, they've got a trunk. They have trunk to keep their clothes in. Some have sack sewed. They have sack sewed. Have their clothes and shawls and blankets. And they have 'em sewed. Have it put away. They just keep what they could use.

(Are the sacks made out of cloth?)

Yeah, it's cloth--canvas. You know it's sewed. Sew like this. See not it's sewed here and they just stuff their clothes in there, blanket and shawls. Then they bend this end and sewed it up 'cause they don't want use these. What they got out, they use that. They just got certain one to use.

(Did they ever decorate their tipis, like painting pictures on them?)

No. Oh, I don't know. I never did--

(When did they start using tents like they bought?)

Not too long ago. You know that time I was telling you, when they give ration, there's lot of people understand how to make their own tipi but they don't make it. Not like these town people makes. They have just tipi, that's all. They use tipi all the time.

TENTS, STOVES, WINDBREAKS

(I wonder why they ever stopped making those tipis and started using those ready-made tents?)

Oh, they start using it long time. Ever since I was telling you 'bout those old times. Mr. Boke and all that bunch they had tents--and they buy them over there.
