

Them days they had time.

(And they go at night.)

Oh, yeah.

HOME MEDICINES AND VISITING SICK FOLKS

(No, they didn't think anything about traveling 10 or 15 miles at night to see sick folks.)

You know that's right. Not like it is now. You there wasn't very many sick folks then.

(No.)

Not like is now, when people have bellyache they take 'em to hospital.

(laughter) No- wasn't no hospital then. (sentence not clear).

(Well, in the earlier days, especially the Indians, they made their own medicines didn't they?)

Yeah. Uh-huh. They got Indian doctors then. And in them days they got herbs they use for medicine. They would go dig that and make their own medicine.

(Yeah. Well, have the people forgotten about what to dig up now for herbs?)

Oh, yeah. They already forgot.

(They already forgotten?)

My father used to dig lots of it.

(Do you remember what he used?)

Yeah. (sentence not clear). Sometimes, you can't find it like you used to. He was a good doctor, but he wouldn't doctor somebody else not in his own family. When you vomiting you know sometimes you can't
