

the old log cabin out and built it. When Jerry Simpson owned that log cabin, he bought that land and everything in there, and they bought him out some way or other. I think they didn't want the cabin, had to move it something I don't know. But boy, they sure ought to 'uv left that.

(End of Interview)