

(No, when he doctored.)

Cecil: Oh, the old man. He was about, somewhere in the neighborhood of about 70.

(When he doctored Joshua Kaulity?)

Cecil: No, Joshua Kaulity, he was about 70. And Chibato, he was way up there in ages cause he was old man.

(How old were you at that time?)

Cecil: Jennie, could you give us a guess on it?

(Were you a young man?)

Cecil: Yeah, I was young, I wasn't too old.

(Were you married?)

Cecil: It was at that time when our houses--when it was built, 1924 or 26.

Jenny: Oh, my. I just couldn't think.

(Well, that's okay. I just really wanted an estimate. I didn't mean for you to try to figure out the exact year.)

Jenny: I think we were married already.

Cecil: Sure we was married cause I went over there. I know where the tipi set right on the south side of the house, right down on the village.

Jenny: He had to be in his 30's, I guess; or 28.

Cecil: It was after our house was built.

(What did old man Chibato look like?)

Cecil: Huh?

(What did he look like?)

He had white hair, white-grey headed man, dark complected, and he's kind of humpback like. He's up in age though.

(How did he wear his hair?)