

him for that reason, because there won't be any misunderstanding. Cause he understood all of it, so he picked out him to give the peace pipe to this other man.

(Well, who was it that went to Paig' ài?)

Cecil: My father. My father, he was talking for Pisedl, his son-in-law, the one who killed him. He was talking all the time for him. And then my father, Hunting Horse, went to Paig' ài. I call him Dr. Given. They call him too, his name was Dr. Given. He was a great doctor, too. And they just call after way back in 1915 I knowed they called him Dr. Given. White people call him Dr. Given. Some white folks give him that name.

SIDE B

(Why didn't Tónakout go himself to see Paig ai?)

Cecil: What?

(Why didn't Tónakout go himself to see Paig' ài?)

Cecil: Well, they already made arrangements. You see, they had council and Tónakout, he voted. I guess he might have choose, pick out that man to take that pipe. So, they had a council before they went to this other side, the other people, and I guess they choose him, I don't know.

(Well, I just wondered why it was your father that went to see him?)

Cecil: Because it was his father-in-law, I guess. You know they were kinfolks, you know, and Tónakout couldn't get anybody else...

Jenny: Tónakout didn't come out to the public for a long time because what he had done. The relatives on the other side were all mad and, if they see him out, they going to kill him. so he had to just kind of hide around. That's how come he didn't come out and
