

and she got measles same time. She gave birth, I guess, one day while she was sick and she just died. No hospitals, no doctors in those days, except the Indians trying their best to save her. But they couldn't and she died.

(She was married to Tonakout at that time?)

Jenny: Yeah, they were just young. That was her first baby.

(That's too bad. Well, I've got some more questions if you're not tired.)

Cecil: Well, what else?

HOW WITCHES GO ABOUT INFLECTING PAIN AND REMOVING IT

(Well going back to where we first started talking this afternoon, we were talking about doctors and witches and witch doctors. Well, I don't think I quite understand--but is a witch and a doctor, the same?)

Cecil: Same--same thing. That's why they become a witch. See now, let me tell you this. Suppose I witch you. Say now, I'm a witch doctor but I witch you and I witch you with some kind of, say, fingernail. And I poke this right in here. And I make you kind of blind. But you know that I witch you so you go to another witch doctor and this witch doctor will find out who done that. But he'll tell you, "I can't take it out unless you give me a certain color of a horse or buckskin suit or give me a bead." Maybe some money. But he might take it out for you. If he witch you, he might take it out. So you come back to me. I witch you and you say, "Now Cecil Horse, I want you to fix me up again. You done something to me and the witch doctor told me that you the guy that witch me." Well, maybe I did, so what I said, "Now, if I take that thing out of you, what would you give me?" What you put up, whatever you want to give me.
