

that's all. That's what it means. He goes round and cheats people. When he gets hungry, why, he cheat people. And something else, why that's all he does. That's why they call him Sainday.

Jenny: He cheats animals or anything.

INDIANS CALL PEOPLE WHO CHEAT "SAINDAY"

Cecil: They got a white fellow down there at Carnegie, name's Sainday.

(They do?)

Cecil: Filling station fellow.

(Which filling station is that?)

Cecil: That's--I don't know that fellow's station. Right where the high school is, right across.

Jenny: Right across the street.

Cecil: Yeah, that might--I guess so many when the Indian says, "I want to get some gas on credit." And this fellow says, "No, no, I don't think I'll let you have it." I tell you, "You're a Sainday." He says, "I'm not going to let you have it cause you cheat me."

That's why they call him a Sainday.

Jenny: They tell him things, I guess, about Sainday so he'd know.

(Well, how would you just say cheater?)

Cecil: t'sœ.

Jenny: And then we got a word when--like somebody tries to cheat you by just making up a story. Well, they say t'sœn'édal.

Cecil: t'sœn'édal That's what they call him over there. This white witch. t'sœ'édal You're a big cheater, that's what it means.

(t'sœ'édal)

Cecil: You're a big cheater.

Jenny: It means you don't mean it. It means something like that.
