

around there and dance. They got certain way to dance. They don't have to dance like other companies dance. You got your own dance. Yeah.

(Did you wear any ornaments in your hair?)

Oh, yeah. I wear my pretty outfit--the best, prettiest things that I had.

(Granddaughter: He had otter skin. Tell them what you had on. You had otter skin.)

Yeah, I had real otter cap on. And my otter hair string.

(Granddaughter: You had your earrings on. He's got seven holes in his ears and he had seven earrings on. See, of course he was a silversmith, and he had all of his jewelry. He made all his pins and everything.)

Yeah, I had a good time. I seen a lot of girls, you know.

They look at me. They think I'm pretty, you know. That's all the things that's going on. The girls are looking at you. You savvy? "Oh, look at that pretty boy!" Well, it's all in the game; You know that.

(Yeah. Well, did your company have any duties to perform around the camp?)

(Granddaughter: (laughs) Oh, dear. He said, "My goodness," he said. "I don't know what the men always do but just sit around!" He said, "and let women work.")

THE OHOMO ORGANIZATION GIVEN KIWAS BY THE CHEYENNES

(Granddaughter: But she's interested in this clan. I was telling her you belonged to the Rabbit Clan first, when you was a little boy. And when you got older you joined the Horse Tassels. And that's what she is asking you about. And then I was telling her that you belong to this Ohomo (Ohomo),
