

a god or idol, whatever it was he told them not to ever kick that. "Don't, don't kick it." Well, she wondered why that he told her not to kick that. Well, she did. She kicked that and when she kicked that there was a hole from up in heaven, I guess, you would call it, down to the earth. And now she wanted to come down to the earth. And that's why she made that rope. But didn't make it long enough. Just so high above this earth. And then after her husband throwed that wheel to go down on the rope, "Go off right down there and then when you meet the little boy, jump over the little boy. And that hit the mother." It hit the mother and killed her.

THROW WHEEL GAME MADE OF GRAPEVINE WHEEL AND ARROWS

(You know this wheel that he threw down there, what do they use those for?)

Cecil: They use that--they make a wheel out of a grapevine. See, that grapevine is easy to bend. They make that wheel and then they put inside the wheel. They use that for little boys. They make arrows for them and they throw it. They throw it and then they shoot in the center of that wheel. And so many times when they're shooting in the center of that wheel, they win. And that, they call it a throw wheel. The name of that wheel is they throw it. That's one at Anadarko at that pawn shop. I think my father made that and this lady wanted it. I think he made that wheel and there's a buffalo hide tipi that he made still over there. Oh, it's about that big around--so high. Made out of, it's not made out of canvas. It's made all just like they used to use it. She's still got it I think.

(In Kiowa, how do you call that throw wheel?)

Cecil: (speaks Kiowa) What did my father call--
