

Well, they saw something coming way off. One of them young men ran to the camp. He said, "Someone is coming way off. We could see." Some more of the young men ran out there. And sure enough, something was coming way off. They just waited and waited and watched. And it got closer. It was a woman. They said, "That's the woman that was missing during our last battle with a certain tribe. That's her." And so they all just stood there. And she came. And she wasn't afraid. She just came and came. She got close. And they know it was her. And she said, "Don't touch me yet." She said, "I'm so lonesome and I want to hug you and all that but don't touch me yet." She said to make this--they call it sweathouse. "Fix that and I'll go in there first. And I'll get all that bad feelings away from me, then I'll touch you." So that's what they done. They went back to the camp. They told everybody and they fix that sweathouse. She went in there and when she came out, well, they all just hug her and welcome her.

BUFFALO WOMAN PASSED HER BLESSING TO HER FOUR BROTHERS

And she had four brothers. And she said, "This is what I want to tell you, my brothers. I've been a-thinking and what happened to me when I left. They took me off from here." She told the whole story. And how she was coming that she went inside the buffalo body. And what that buffalo said--talked to her. And give her this medicine. But she said, "I'm a woman. I can't do as much as a man. So this medicine, I'm gonna pass it on to you brothers. Four of you. Now I want you all to take it and use. It's a good thing to doctor sick people." So she pass it on to her brothers. There were four of them. And she knew just what to use, what
