

did, I paid off. That's how come I found out.

(Oh, do you still go with that same fellow?)

Cecil: Yeah. If I want some he says, "I won't charge you."

Jenny: And lately now, he don't charge him. He's just a good friend.

Cecil: Lately he don't charge me but at the first he charge me.

KIOWA MEDICINE MEN ONLY DOCTORED WITH OTHER KIOWA DOCTORS

(Well, you know, this is changing the subject, too. Did you ever know Homer Saddle Blanket?)

Jenny: Yeah.

(How about his father, Old Man Saddle Blanket? Did you ever know him?)

Jenny: Homer Saddle Blanket (speaks Kiowa to Cecil)?

Cecil: Old Man Buffalo?

Jenny: No! Homer Saddle Blanket, he's Apache.

Cecil: I don't know. I know Homer but I don't know his father.

(Well, I heard he was a medicine man and somewhere I heard he used the buffalo tail. And I just wondered if he might have had medicine similar to your father?)

Jenny: I never did hear my dad say anything about people in the Apache tribe.

(Of course I know it's a different tribe.)

Jenny: Yeah, but this medicine, what I'm telling you, is from the Kiowas. The rest I don't know. If you were to ask, you could find out. What I'm telling you--it's from the Kiowas.

(How about, like your father when he was active--when he got together, it was just, all Kiowas wasn't it?)

Jenny: Yes, all Kiowas.
