

to bake--little old things. It doesn't have to be money involved. But there was a friendliness there, a neighborliness and if they got a new recipe and they tried it out, well they weren't happy till the neighbors all tasted it. And I'll never forget an old woman I first met in the 4-H Club and we had some new books and this old woman was real religious and oh, she had one of the meanest boys and she just prayed for him. So I got this recipe out of my 4-H Club Book and it was for Devil's Food Cake and I'll never forget it. She come in and I said, "Grandma, you want a piece of my cake?" And she said, "What kind is it?" And I said, "Devil's Food." And she said, "Oh Lordy no child, I wouldn't even taste it to see if I liked it." (laughter) And she was just that way. If the devil ate it, she didn't want to taste it to see if she did like it. (laughter) Well, you just couldn't find any better.

AS LONG AS GRASS GROWS AND WATER FLOWS

And the biggest strip in oil field out there is covered now.

(All covered up with water.)

Yes. All covered now. And I heard Charlie Leland say one time he was an Indian, and they had their home out there and he was the last decendent of the old folks. So they found him, the home did. And one of the 4-H leaders come in there one day and they say he was getting better and he said, "Well said I'm coming in to see you one of these days." And he said, "Well now if you want to come and stay and visit well come on fine. But said if you come with the expectation of buying anything," said, "I ain't got anything to sell."

(Mmmmm.)

He said, "Well you might think of the rest of the time we get through talking to you. He said "No I won't." Said I got a piece of paper out there that says as long as the grass grows green and the water flows free this land is yours and it's signed by the President of the United States. - And I'd like to see you buy it.
