

IN EARLY DAYS FAMILY LIVED WELL - CATTLE, ORCHARD, VEGETABLES

(Well that's interesting. Uh-huh. Well what was your main line of work when you were growing up and a young fellow?)

Well uh-oh I herd cattle quite a bit. Not too much.

(Cattle--Cowboy and cattleman)

We always had a bunch of milk cows.

(Yeah)

It was my job to go get them.

(Yeah)

It was my job to go get them.

(Yeah)

See that they was all in. Stuff like that.

(Well when you look back on it now. It was kind of hard going. Wasn't it?)

Yeah

(Yes sir.)

But still we always had it pretty good. My father bought an apple orchard uh-peach orchard from some company in the east.

(Yeah)

And we had about six or seven variety of apples.

(Well my goodness)

He planted them all. And they all lived good and grewed. I guess if they lived they'd be about thirty five years old.

(Uh-huh)

I've had boys, well, after I begin to grow up I've had boys come and tell me that they would walk through there just to steal green apples. Quite a hike wasn't it. (laughter)
