

(That was before they had a post office here at Dodge. And they carried the mail.)

On out.

(Where did they carry the mail from? Would it be Southwest City?)

(not clear)--down here. The Fields cemetery. Do you know when that is?

(Yes. Fields cemetery. That's an old cemetery too.)

An old cemetery.

(And it took care of this community too I guess.)

There was another down south of here. Near Muldrow.

(Uh-huh.)

Lots of Fields is--(not clear).

(Yes. When you first came here was this a farming community. Primarily?

Most of that's changed now though hasn't it?)

Yeah. Good farming out there.

(Rich land out there. It looks like--)

Oh yes. Lots farming out there.

(Yeah. What are some of the old land marks up in this area here. Places that have been here a long time--of historical interest.)

Well, there not many in the north here. There's Cowskin.

(Yeah. Is there a settlement there at Cowskin?)

There was some down in there several years ago. Had a church, dress shop you know. Lots of stuff.

(Well.)

And the church is still there.

(Well I guess they had a little store there too.)

Yeah.

(Let's see, that's where the Seneca Indians settled up there, isn't it?

Well, that was back in the days when everything was hauled in by wagons. Up
