

(Yeah.)

'Course Grove's been there a long time. Two or three stores.

(Yeah.)

Ben: They traded at Grove and Southwest City. That was the main trading post they had close to them.

OLD CEMETERIES

(Where was that old cemetery? I think they called it the Hilderbrand Cemetery.)

Ben: It was down here, on close to the river.

(They did move it though?)

Ben: Yeah, they moved it out over here.

(That was an old Indian cemetery down there.)

Ben: Yeah.

(Was there also another big cemetery or burial ground someplace? I don't know which side of the river it was--was it Oldfield?)

Ben: Yeah, Oldfield Ben.

(Oldfield Ben.)

Ben: Some of my folks is buried there. And they moved them over here.

(Yeah.)

Ben: My grandfather on my mother's side. They moved them over here, and put 'em in this graveyard.

(What do they call this graveyard now? Or is this--?)

Ben: I don't know what they call it. They just started in there when they had to move the graveyard.

(Yeah.)

Ben: The Dam come in.

(Well now this Zena cemetery out here is another old place too, isn't it?)

Ben: Yeah. That's an old cemetery.
