

she knitted it you might say.

(Yeah)

Uh--jacket or sweater or jacket. We call it sweater now days.

(Uh-huh)

And hose and a glove and stockings. All of that. They wear that through the winter.

(Yeah)

Real hand made: Home made. Hand made. That's what they wore.

(Well they didn't have to buy anything.)

Not too many things. But I know they had to buy a few things. You know on a later time.

(Yeah later times. Well did they raise tobacco in those early days?)

Yeah they raised tobacco. Yeah, they used their own tobacco.

(Well)

That's the way--. My daddy he go back and forth. He move me in there. That old house. I'll tell you about it. The one I was raised up in.

(Uh-huh)

He used to tell me. They moved me in there. I was a year old.

(Well)

WATERPOWER GRISTMILL

I was born right down there in the old Spade. Down there. The old place there. 'Cause these buildings are all gone. And when after so many years. I don't know. A few years later. And my dad put in a water powered mill.

(Well)

From that spring. To grind the corn.

(Well)

And he grind the corn up in meal for people.
