

We start going up there, all of us children. There's little path. Just right by where I work--going up there, there's little path going right there.

(Yeah)

We walk up there. Two mile and a half to the school house.

(Huh)

Go back and forth from the old place out there up that hill. Go out this way. We had two ways to go. We could go down yonder and out this way. But mostly we used this path.

(Now what did they call this little school?)

High Excel.

(High Excel.)

Was long time ago. And later sometime they call it Shady Grove. They changed the name.

(Uh-huh)

Now they call it Shady Grove. I don't know what they went by. And they come in. And after they condem that school--and after they condem it then. O.K. Chondler--I didn't have no place to go to school. Except the weather will bud starting in. I go to school little bit.

(Uh-huh)

We lived right down here then. I don't know how many years that we lived up there. I don't know how many years 'cause you can see just a spot there where we used to live there.

(Yeah. Uh-huh)

WENT TO WYANDOTTE BOARDING SCHOOL

Mr. O.K. Chondler come over one evening. Talk about why, why they don't send me to school. They had a boarding school in the east. It's up here at Wyandotte.
