

(Yeah)

Lot of people ain't got no home. No land or nothing.

(Right)

One man owns all the country. Well that ain't right.

(No)

I don't think so.

(No. Its not right. No when some man owns too much. Then someone has to do with out.)

Yeah. Somebody help you around here.

(Uh-huh)

They say--

(Well in the early day the Cherokee he just go out and pick him out a piece of land and farm it.)

Or graze around it.

(Yeah.)

Man didn't sign nothing. Its was his.

(Yeah. He clear it off.)

Yeah he clear it off. He make a home there he own it.

(It was better then.)

Now here. Down close ot the place -- You know people there (Not clear).

(Uh-huh)

Yeah. They run him off of his own country.

(Well it seems like an injustice.)

An injustice. Yeah.

(Uh-huh)

Injustice.

(But long time ago they had little farm. Go out and hunt deer and turkey.)

Turkeys anything.
