

(Well)

I stayed with him.

(Well I guess he told you lot of things about old times.)

Well, no, he never did. I was too young I guess.

(Too young)

Too small, I guess, to tell me anything about it. He never told me anything much. But he did, told me one time, he said uh--uh--Dawes Commission, he said ought to be here pretty soon he said.

(Uh)

And I didn't know what he meant.

(Yeah)

I said Dawes Commission I didn't know what it was. Dawes Commission going to divide these lands.

(Yes)

You do remember that.

(Uh-huh)

Yeah he used to tell me that much. But I don't think he ever tell anything. Mighty good old granddaddy. I want to chew tobacco. He give it to me.

RAISED TOBACCO IN EARLY DAYS

(Yeah. Well did you raise tobacco in early day.)

Yes they raise tobacco in here. I used to raise it myself.

(Well)

But I quit.

(Uh-huh. Nobody raise tobacco anymore I guess.)

Not around here. There's a man over about Johnson Prairie raise tobacco.

(Uh-huh)

He has tobacco all the time. I go over there sometime. He give me some.

Yeah, nobody raise. Its too much trouble.

(Yeah)
