

(Yeah)

These languages. They couldn't understand each other, what they say. If one fellow go tell them do that thing, he go do something else.

(Uh-huh)

And they couldn't get, they couldn't go on with that tower. They couldn't--

(You know the Great Spirit you know. He wanted the people to spread out.)

Yeah. Spread out.

(And he didn't like for them to be all together.)

No. He didn't like--

(He wanted them to move around.)

Yeah. Got the people scattered out. Just like one home you know. One house wasn't made for two families.

(That's right.)

Two families couldn't get along. I don't care who they are. Even the own people they couldn't get along.

(That's right.)

Wasn't made for two families.

(Well that's the way it was supposed to be.)

Yeah that's the way it supposed to be. Yeah. That's the way--

TRIBES HAD DIFFERENT CUSTOMS AND LIVING CONDITIONS

(And you know different Indians have different customs.)

Yeah. Different customs.

(And way out, way in the west part they live different out there than we do over here.)

Yeah, we live different. Yeah different from, yeah you take Nevada come to Laredo back in that way.

(Yeah)

Yeah they all different. (not clear) too.

(Oh yeah)
