

Uh-huh.

(When you were young fellow.)

Yeah

LIFE OF TRAVELING PREACHER IN EARLY DAYS

(Well did they have church?)

Oh yeah.

(Also down there.)

Yeah. Sunday school.

(Yes, traveling preacher.)

Uh-huh they had preacher.

(He just ride through the country and preach.)

Uh-huh. Used to be preacher lived back here, farmer.

(Yeah)

People go around country, in our neighborhood you know, they just give hog ham, had a wagon load of them groceries. Take it to him.

(Well. He, he'd eat hog all day.)

Yeah. That'll last for several months.

(Well. No I guess.)

They'll have October, November and be in the money.

(Uh-huh. Yeah I guess preaching didn't pay much in those days.)

No. Well the community supplied the food you know.

(Yeah)

And he farmed too. Had a big farm. Corn too, to feed his horses with.

(Yeah)

Yeah

(Well I guess that's about the only way they could pay 'em.)

Oh yeah.
