

And I was to get a fellow by the name of Jones, Ollie Jones, town marshall, to come and arrest him, see.

(Uh-huh)

And they got him before he. Just the night--- They caught him the day before he was going to come in that night.

(Hum-m)

I'd already knew about it. See I knew what he was going to do. Well then his father died. And the old man knew he was a dying. He had robbed some banks in his days. But he'd reformed. And Ada and I had talked to him. We called him Uncle John. "Uh, John, I wished you would quit this drinking and settle down and get well." So he told us on Wednesday night, before he died on Friday. He sent for Ada and I to come to his place. He lived in Vian.

(Uh-huh)

"I wanted you and Ada to come over here. And I wanted to tell you that I'm not afraid to die. And that I've made peace. And I want, just wanted you to know cause you talk so much to me about it."

(Yeah)

And we told him goodbye and that's when he died. And that's the kind of experiences I've had with these fellows. They come in dressed as women, you know sometimes.

(Yeah)

I remember, was it Charlie? Who was it come in dressed as a woman one time?

ED LOCKHART WAS AN OUTLAW - COME DRESSED AS A WOMAN

Lady: That's Ed Lockhart.

Ed Lockhart.

(Uh-huh).

Lady: Yeah, he came in one evening while I--.

Cause they couldn't keep us from knowing them. Others wouldn't know them.

Lady: Uh, he came in the train was late. And Wattie had taken the keys with him. Baby and I were down to the store by ourselves. And he--I had--. They rode horseback in them days.

(Uh-huh)

Lady: They had gasoline lights and coal oil lamps. I had a gasoline light lit in front. And I didn't have no keys to lock the door. I put a chair against it. Sit back there kinda dark myself. He come in at the door.
