

(Not clear) -- all day long for fifty cents.

(Well.)

I have.

(And that's hard work too.)

I know it.

FARM MACHINERY IN EARLY DAYS

(Well they didn't have modern farm machinery back in your days. Did they?)

Why fiddle no. An old turning plow and Georgia stock, and double shovel.

And things like that.

(Yeah. They made crops though didn't they?)

Why sure we made good crops.

(And this is good farming land too. Isn't it?)

Yes. But, course after my husband, Jiggs, you know, his name was George but they always called him Jiggs, got so he couldn't farm, and the kids had all left us, our land just grewed up with bermuda grass.

(Well.)

(Not clear) all that now in the pasture.

(Uh-huh.)

Yeah.

(I guess you can remember them. Can't you?)

Well some of them I can. Well we used to dance and have a good time. Uncle Jess would come down with his children. Uncle Luke never did come too much.

I never did see very many of his children.

(Uh-huh. Well people were so scattered in those days.)

Oh I know it. I know.

(And they couldn't travel too far.)

And they had a hard way of going.
