

Uh-huh.

((Inaudible) calico--))

The cotton.

(The cotton cloth.)

Uh-huh. Yeah, the cotton cloth.

(Well.)

SCHOOLS - CEMETERIES

(Did they have a schoolhouse here at Wauhillaun at one time, too?)

They had a school down here at the graveyard,

(That's where the first school was?)

Yeah, the first school. And they it was one of the first schools when they come here from Georgia. They build the schoolhouse right down there at the cemetery.

(An old log schoolhouse?)

Yes, an old log schoolhouse.

(Well.)

George Tyner went there at the old log school. When he was a kid.

(Well my goodness. And I guess they established that Caney Cemetery about the same time, too.)

Yes. I think one of Papa's aunts was the first one buried there.

(Yeah, well. What was her name? Do you remember?)

Who?

(The first one that was buried there.)

She was named Smith.

(Smith.)

Uh-huh. She married a Smith. I imagine she was a Sanders before she married.
