

causes of diseases." (End of reading.)

(Sentence not clear.)

Marsh gas, yeah.

(My goodness.)

You know they--sell now (inaudible).

(Right.)

With this country. And these, the Indians they had their own government. And they could have learned from the white people.

And they could have learned the English language. The white people could have taught them. They just like civilization spread around the Middle Ages. Started there in Egypt and it traveled right on down. One country learned from the other as they traded with them. But--

END OF INTERVIEW