

Should have brought everything. 'Guess I will someday. 'Cause you children wouldn't know who they were. This picture I have is--this is Joe Red Eagle's wife (54), he was from here--Osage family and her young son and baby and also her sister. I remember her name was Ethel Bryant, but I don't know her maiden name--the Osage family. I have another old picture here. This Mrs.--Mr. Shunk's wife from Hominy and the other was Mamie Fletcher (55) from Hominy. And this other picture--I can't remember who she is, but they are all from Hominy. Really nice looking picture. Shall I tell who they are? Them's me and my children and my maid (56).
(Yeah.) (laughter).

This picture I have is when I was younger and we were taking trip to Colorado Springs. And as we were taking tour, why my two sons were riding on the--I think they look like little mules there. They were riding them--Leonard and Harry, and my daughter Leona. And my maid. Her name was Lorena. This was taken during our trip. (unrelated conversation) This picture I have here is another old picture. I just have to think little while to remember their names. Well, I repeat the ones I can remember. I see this picture here was Elda West (57), original from Hominy. And this little boy, I just don't remember who he is. But the next picture is Mr. and Mrs. Shenkey's daughter--now is Mrs. Shunkamakah (?) of Hominy. And this other lady is Mrs. Whitehorn (57). Her husband's Indian name is Eska moi. That's --I can remember her. And this other lady, I just can't place her. I know her too, but I just can't place her name right now. I think that's Bertha Webb's mother there. I don't remember her name. This is Bertha Webb here. This is her daughter (57). They are all from Hominy. This picture I have is old picture of--that was taken these ladies--three elderly ladies. Very nice picture (58). This lady--their name was Pease, but I can't recall the name right now. They used to live between here and Fairfax. And she married
