

there's a lot of them. See, there was Henry Ross, Joe Ross, he was an old timer. Both of them was.

(The Duncans, were they up in here, too?)

Who?

(Duncan, Red Cloud Duncan?)

Well. Yeah, but he lived at Rose.

(Oh, at Rose?)

Yeah, he lived up there at the old Saline Court House, see, they called it, you know. That's where they used to have court up there, you know.

(That's what I heard.)

HELPING NEIGHBORS

You doggone right. But, you know there's a lots a difference in people today then there was then.

(Oh, yeah.)

You take people back when I was raised up. Take some of the neighbors get sick, I got to go and hook up my team and take care of his crop.

You can't even hire one of them to do it now. Let alone come and do it for nothing.

(That's right)

ROSS FAMILY

(Name not clear...he's dead?)

Yeah, he's dead. Well, he's got a brother, Dan Ross.

(Is he still living?)

Yeah. He's still living. He's got a sister down here. That's about the oldest of them. Down here, right there in town.

(Is that Maggie?)

Maggie Ross, yeah, I met her up there the other day on the street.

I walked up and put my hand on her. I said, "Hello, Maggie." She looked at me and said, "Who are you, anyway?" I said, "Well, I don't
