

(Yes.)

Peggs is quite a little prairie, you know. Settled down in Peggs and settled on the river, some on the prairie. They just scattered out like that.

(Let's see now, the Ross family now, they went towards Tablequah and Park Hill at the start.)

Park Hill.

(That right. Now your folks--)

Mine was the Downing.

(Your's was the Downing. Now where was the first group of them settled?)

Well, they settled in Peggs.

(In Peggs.)

Yes and then in Tahlequah.

(Then Tahlequah.)

And see, that's just 18 miles.

(Yes ma'm)

Some of them landed there and some in Peggs. North of Peggs--

(Well, I don't know. Unless they were just--)

INDIAN BOYS FRIGHTENED A WHITE WOMAN

One white woman remember? She was a teacher in the school.

(Yes)

And this woman--you know that's when they had that stampede up there one time--you know, was gonna scare this white woman to death.

(Yes)

She had been bragging about being a white person. She was afraid of the Indians:

(Uh-huh)

They all decided to stampede and scare her to death and they did. (Laughter)
