

Mrs. Wolf: Then we had Dr. Williams. Dr. Williams ain't been dead too long. He was old.

(Uh-huh. I guess they, those doctos had a hard time getting around in those days. Just had horse and buggy.)

Wiley: Yeah. And buggy's it's really in cold'night they have to stay over there.

(Yeah but they go anyway, I guess.)

Uh-huh.

('Course sometimes it's; Indian doctor, they treat them too.)

Mrs. Wolf: Uh-hum.

(When they get sick)

Mrs. Wolf: I guess those Indian doctors get sick too sometimes. 'Cause Yancie Ha-go-nah over here at uh- Mulberry. She doctors people. Doctor people for certain things.

(Yancie Ha-gonah.)

Mr.s Wolf: Yancie Ha-go-nah, uh-huh.

Wiley: Old lady.

Mrs. Wolf: She's old now.

(Uh-huh)

Wiley: I believe she about eighty years old.

(Uh-huh)

LOCATION OF FAMILIES AND GRAVE SITES IN EARLY DAYS

Mrs. Wolf: Back over here, let's see, there's another graveyard over there, made up of family. What is the uh--name. I'll think of it in a minute.

(Name not clear) graveyard.

(Mrs. Wolf: Yeah.

Wiley: When I come here, I remember that the place is John Wolf.
