DATE OF INTERVIEW: 9/6/67

(Preliminary conversation.)

I can't talk good English. Just little words. I'm not good educated.

(Well, that's fine--)

I just go to school just four years. That's all. I got sick and they send me home. And I was crying. I got sick. I got the temperature (?).

And they told me to go home. Oh, I hate to go home. I rather stay in school. And I cried.

(What school did you go to?)

Oh, it's a mission school. Church school. I guess you heard about J. J. Methvin? I go to his school up here. He's got a fine preacher that built this mission school. That's where I go to school. I was in school in 1898.

(My, that's wonderful.)

I stayed in there. And I got sick. I got awful sick. And I got the hemorrhage. And Methvin came in and brought the doctor in and they said, "Send her home. Let her stay home." Oh, I sure did cry. I don't like to go home. But I understand when I first went to school I didn't know nothing about the English. I just talk little words. I can't use the hard words though.

STORY ABOUT WOMAN CAPTURED BY UTES AND HOW BUFFALO MEDICINE WAS GIVEN TO HER

(Well, I think your English is just fine, and I like the way you talk... you could start now.)

They used to have a war with Utes. And the Ute group, maybe they came to fight with them. And they--I guess they fighting. And they captured
