

I don't know. My mama, she's goofy. She don't tell me. (laughs) That time they don't know. They just can't tell what day or how--autumn or spring or summer--they just can't--they don't know.

(What was your mother's name?)

Omh W.te. Spell it.

(Could you say it once more?)

H-A-R-T---

(Mrs. McDaniels: No, it's O-M-H-A-R-T-Y. It really means omh isn't it?)

He saw her when she was two years old--my mother passed away. She passed away 1928. She was seventy-nine years old when she pass away.

(Mrs. McDaniels: My father lived till he was eighty-four, but the Office had him way older--)

Now that's all! You going too far! You spent lots of money!

(Are you tired for today? I'd like to get you to sign this paper. I'm going to pay you and I'd like you to sign a receipt for me. I've got to keep records.)

(Remainder of tape is discussion of rate of pay. Eugenia wanted more money than the five dollars and talked about how white people cheated Indians.)
