

(They were further south here.)

Then there were some Markers, part Delaware. Did you know them?

(Yes.)

Charley and John and well, there just wasn't any Delawares here at that time. Did you know Sam Boney?

(Not very well, but I did know him. He was quite a typical Indian down in those hills. Everybody knew Sam Boney alright.)

I guess he pulled some boneys alright. (Laughter) . But what I was getting at talking to John Marker, one time. We got to talking about some of them fellas down that way. I asked him if he knew Sam Boney.

SAM BONEY - INCIDENT - DEER HIDES

He said, "Yeah, I know him." He said, "You know the first time I ever saw him?" Well, I didn't have the least idea. He said, "One times I was down in the hills hunting." He said he went down through the timber there. He said some fella was way up in a tree, big old tree. Said come to find out it was Sam Boney, up there stretching a deer hide. Killed it out of season and he was stretching the hide up in that tree. (Laughter) That's what he told me, now, I guess it's so.

(Probably so.)

Yeah. He was getting rid of that deerhide. He used to come down her mother's Round Springs. You know where Round Springs is?

(Uh-huh.)

That's where they lived, right there at Round Springs. Just below it there.

(Yeah.)

Where the highway when you cross that little Round Springs branch, you know, well they lived just off to the left going towards Jay.

(Yeah, I know where that place is.)
