

they didn't have no hospital nowhere that day, and now I got my granddaughter with me at home. And I got her job at Indian hospital, and she's got a little baby, three years old - it's a little boy named Todd. And this girl I was talkin' about, her name's Vonnie. And this my daughter, was named Alice. And that's all the family I had. Then, after her mother died, and I send her to school. (the granddaughter) And I do all I can so she can get education because I ain't go none education. I could write my name - and my daughter had taught me when her was living. And that's all I could say these words why I tell about my life. And now...here' Faye...
