

INTRODUCTION

(March 3, 1969. Today I'm visiting with Sarah Cheater an eighty-four year old Cherokee, Peters Prairie, Delaware County, Oklahoma. This full-blood Cherokee has been in this valley all of her life. And she has seen many of the things that changed this part of the Cherokee Nation.)

MANY CEMETERIES IN THE AREA - NAMES

(Fields in that, on that Honey Creek Cemetery.)

At Salone?

(Yes ma'am on the, it's the Salone Cemetery.)

Yeah.

(And then let's see. I've got another one recorded but, it's one, well course it's, most of it's gone now. I mean just all, you can tell what was there, hardly except the--)

Well, then it's a lot at that Salone Cemetery.

(Yes ma'am)

Yeah.

(They got it fixed up.)

Well.

(And then there's one, right on the Harding place.)

Well, that's where, that's where that Salone Cemetery.

(No, this is a different one.)

No, that must have been the Sallie England.

(Sallie England, yes ma'am.)

Yes.

(Well, that was what I was wanting to find out, was the name on that one.)

Yeah.

(Yeah.)
