

You know they used to beat this old hominy.

(Yes ma'am)

And they'd have that. My mother would have some of that made.

(Well)

KA-NE HA NE - A FOOD

Oh that old man come by there and just enjoy his self and sitting. Kanehane, they called it.

(Ka-ne-ha-ne)

Yeah.

(Well, do people still make that anymore?).

(This is made from corn and hickory nuts beaten in the mortar.)

Well, yeah. They would, but you know, they had them wooden mortars that they beat that corn in.

(Yeah.)

And there ain't anybody got any anymore.

No, I haven't seen one anywhere.

OTHER INDIAN FOODS AND PREPARATION

(No, that's something lot of people have missed they didn't live in that day when they could enjoy those things.)

Well, you couldn't have starved an Indian to death.

(No, you couldn't.)

Sure knew how to live.

(They knew what to get out and dig for or take off of a tree.)

Yes, they did. And they put it up to eat on too.

(Did the Cherokees ever dry meat and like some of the Indians did?)

I never did see none.

(I never did either.)

My folks just always just had a smoke house, you know.

(Yeah)
