

you know lived to be real old.)

Yes, yes it's quite (words not clear)

(And lots of young folks too and oh - six, eight and ten years old. Course they have better medicine, I guess, nowadays and better care and--)

Well, I'll tell you, the Indians didn't seem like they used any doctors. They tried to doctoring themselves and they didn't understand the illness. (Yeah.)

I guess that was the reason.

(It must have been.)

Now they can pretty near make a person come to life again.

(They sure can. Take the heart out of one person and put it in another. or kidney or something.)

Well, they sure do,

(They're doing it now.)

Yeah and trying to go to the moon and everywhere else.

TOWNS OF JAY AND SOUTHWEST CITY

(That's right. When you folks first settled up here where did you have to go to the store? Did they have a store at Jay then?)

That Jay's a new town.

(It is.)

I was growing up when they built that.

(Well.)

No, we went to Southwest City. That's the only place I ever knew of us a going.

(Yes ma'am.)

Then down here at Grove they put up a store.

(Yeah.)

They had two stores there when I remember--no, one store.

(Just one store at Grove. Well, Southwest City was the town then for this
