

Uh-huh.

(So there are kinds...)

Yeah, there are different ways. There are different ways that the fortune tellers tell fortunes.

(Well now you know about this cup reading, what determines your good fortune or your bad fortune with your coffee grounds?)

Well, I don't know, Faye. My grandma does that. But uh - you drink a cup of coffee - coffee that was made from coffee that you perked, I guess you would say, instead of this instant coffee. But it has to be of coffee that you have drank. You know, like you have drank a whole cup and there's grinds in the bottom, well use that and you know, you get cup and shake it around a couple of times and think about what you want to find out. And you turn the cup over and it makes little lines. And right there if you are going to get mail or if you are gonna get money, or something is gonna happen they can tell you right there. I know 'casue my grandmother can read fortunes that wasy. But I don't know if she can read fortunes any other way or not. Cause she can tell me something is gonna happen and it will happen.

(Faye's question not clear.)

Yeah. She uses three coins, one way of telling fortunes. She uses lead that is tied onto a string - I mean string is tied onto lead. And she ties the string around the lead - puts it in the shape of a small thing - I don't know, just looks like a little pencil or something. And she drops it and it goes round and round and 'round. And I know good and well that she really can tell fortunes with that because I can drop that piece of lead and it won't go around, I don't care what I do. Becasue she says you have to say something when you are lookin' at someone, readin' their fortune.