

is Williams. I wish I had that little book. I've got a whole lot of stuff written in it. And my niece was here and she wanted it and I let her have it.

(Well that's just an old place, isn't it.)

Yes, yes--

(As far as the history of this part of the country.)

This is one of the first cemeteries. I remember when we were just little babies, little kids growing up. Its way before 1906. Cause that's when my father died.

(Well)

Well it was there then. And it had been there quite awhile. But there's really the original date is on that little grave.

(Well, I'll see that then.)

And its right there in my family group. My father's name was Robinson. And he has a big stone. Woodman of the World. Woodman, was somebody who put it up for him. And from there on is our family. I've got about fifteen up there.

PARENTS AND FAMILIES CAME FROM GEORGIA

(And your mother's folk--)

Ward.

(They were the Wards.)

They were the Wards. And the father of all was Jim, James Ward. But her father's name was Brown Ward.

(Was was your mother's given name?)

Esther.

(When did your mother and daddy come here or were they born here?)

No. They came from Georgia. My mother did. And they didn't come with the
