

Notice of Copyright

Published and unpublished materials may be protected by Copyright Law (Title 17, U.S. Code). Any copies of published and unpublished materials provided by the Western History Collections are for research, scholarship, and study purposes only.

Use of certain published materials and manuscripts is restricted by law, by reason of their origin, or by donor agreement. For the protection of its holdings, the Western History Collections also reserves the right to restrict the use of unprocessed materials, or books and documents of exceptional value and fragility. Use of any material is subject to the approval of the Curator.

Citing Resources from the Western History Collections

For citations in published or unpublished papers, this repository should be listed as the Western History Collections, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma.

An example of a proper citation:

Oklahoma Federation of Labor Collection, M452, Box 5, Folder 2. Western History Collections, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma.

INDEX CARDS

Ferry - Brown

Postmaster - Troy

Cattle Thieves

Railroad - Frisco 1901-1902

ALEXANDER, J. F.

INTERVIEW.

4869.

John F. Daugherty
Interviewer
July 15, 1937

Interview with J. F. Alexander
Box 224, Sulphur, Oklahoma.
Father-Paul Alexander
Mother-Elizabeth Coates

My father was Paul Alexander, born April 5, 1842, in Mississippi. He was a farmer and stockman.

Mother was Elizabeth Coates, born in Mississippi, August 2, 1846. There were eight children in our family. I was born September 23, 1870, in Texas. I came to the Indian Territory in a covered wagon in 1893. I crossed Red River at Brown's Ferry near Thackerville, and settled three miles south of Ardmore. I lived there four years and moved to Troy in Johnson County. I was the first postmaster at Troy. The mail came from Tishomingo in a cart every day.

There were some cattle thieves living near Troy. One night a bunch of the good citizens got on their horses, tied handkerchiefs over their faces and rode to the home of these thieves. They slipped a rope about the neck of one of these as he slept, and awakened him by punching him in the side with a sixshooter. They took him out to a tree and hanged him, then let him down and asked him where the cattle belonging to a neighbor were located. He would say nothing, so they pulled him up again, and this time when they let him down he told them where to find the cattle. They told him if he didn't move the next day he would be hanged after dark, and left him.

2

As they returned to their homes they met his brother-in-law, who was a pardner in the cattle stealing. They caught him and hung him twice and let him down, but he would tell nothing. When they returned to the road, the boy's horse was gone. One of the leaders of this masked bunch took him on his horse as far as his home, then turned his horse over to the boy to ride home. The next morning the boy returned the horse and they moved that day.

ALEXANDER, J. F.

INTERVIEW.

4869.

3

When the Frisco Railroad was built in 1901-1902 the bed was made with teams and scrapes. I furnished the beef for Whip Powell's camp. They had camps from Scullin to Ravia and I butchered the beef for them all. It took about eight hundred pounds per day. I butchered early every morning, and had it all delivered by nine o'clock. There was no ice to keep it, so they got it fresh each day.

I married Rebecca Cummings in Texas, May 4, 1890. We have six children. We have lived in Sulphur about twelve years.