Alikchi is located in McCurtain County in Section 21, Township 3 South, Range 22 East. This was known as the Sulphur Springs court ground, and the first court was held here in December of 1871. William Cornelius, uncle of Salina LeFlore, held the first court there. District Court for all of the counties was held here in July and December of each year. The court was abolished at statehood. This location is now owned by Jim Cook of Adabel.

Information obtained from Salina Le Flore of Garvin who is a Choctaw Indian and has several copies of the Choctaw laws and other Choctaw books.
