

BOYES, LUCY.

COLLECTION.

8170.

Ida A. Merwin.
August 9, 1937, Interviewer.

A Collection from Lucy (Minor) Boyes.
Perry, Oklahoma.

Composition written by Fannie Folsom, Choctaw Indian girl, student in the New Hope Seminary School at Skullyville, Indian Territory. Miss Lucy A. Minor, teacher, 1890-1892.

THE GOOD GIRL.

Good girls are always thought well of by every body and are respected by all of their friends. Good people can see and have a nice time in every thing that they do.

Girls that are good always study when they are going to school.

They do not idle their time away like the ones we wrote about last Thursday. I like this subject very much, but I do not think I can write very much about the good girl. Good girls can enjoy themselves a great deal better than idle girls can. Good girls are loved very much by all of their friends.

BOYES, LUCY

COLLECTION.

8170.

2

They have great many more friends than idle girls has. God sees everything we do and if we do anything that's not pleasing in his sight we are not as good as we ought to be. If we are good when we die we will get to see God; who made the heaven and the earth. Besides that we can have a home in heaven if we are good and do to others as we would have others to do to us. God will save all good girls and boys that trust in his word. I would like to say more but I can't think of any thing to say. God takes away good people I think he thinks if he leaves them awhile longer they will not gain a home in heaven. He also takes away some bad ones I will tell you what I think he takes them away for. I do not know exactly but I will tell you what I think, if he leaves them here, they will cause others to be bad.

FANNIE FOLSOM.

1891.