MR. HOLLINGSWORTH'S STORY:

I came to Oklahoma from Texas in 1889.

"Very little is remembered of the trip except that it was made overland in a wagon to a place called Mannsville on the Washita river. At that time there were few Indians in that settlement.

"There are two or three ghost towns in the neighborhood of Mannsville: Earlorton, Old Mannsville, Baum. There were several ferries since discontinued and a few private burial grounds. Mannsville was on the old stage route through Tishomingo, Mannsville and on to Ardmore."
