CREEK NATION TROUBLES ENDED

Eufaula, I. T.,

July 8.--

The long drawn out Treasury squabble in the Creek Nation virtually ended yesterday. The trouble arose during the late called session of the Council over the alleged payment by the Creek Treasurer of $6000 attorney's fees authorized by the previous session of the Council to Clarence Turner, of Muskogee. Grievances against Chief L. C. Perryman and Auditor Palmer were also rung in and the affair finally culminated in the council passing an act suspending the chief and recognizing Second Chief Edward Bullet as acting chief of the Creek Nation. Bullet in turn declared the treasurer and auditor suspended and appointed their successors, but later a decision of the Supreme Court of the Creek Nation to the effect that the council, being called for the revision of the citizenship rolls, could not legally suspend the Chief, placed the matter as it stood previous to the action of the Council.

Ever since Second Chief Bullet and his party have been claiming to be the legal governing power of the Creek Nation, and they assembled in Eufaula Saturday supposedly to dispossess Treasurer Grayson of the books and archives of the treasurer's office, but upon reaching Eufaula Chief Bullet received the following telegram from Agent Wisdom at Muscogee, I. T.:

"To Edward Bullet, Second Chief Muskogee Nation, Eufaula, I. T. -- Under an article of the treaty of 1856, and being informed that there is a scheme on foot by certain parties to seize the books and papers of the Treasurer of the Muskogee Nation, Samuel Grayson, I hereby advise you that such seizure will be unwarranted, and likely to produce domestic strife. I have not been informed of either the death, resignation or removal from office of L. C. Perryman, Principal Chief of said nation, and until I am so informed officially I shall continue to recognize said Perryman as the lawful chief of said nation, and all citizens of said nation, you amongst others, will take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly."

As the Council failed to notify the United States government of the Chief's removal, and as the present Chief, Perryman, is the only one from whom the agent will consider such notifications, officially, and as there is doubts in the minds of the Supreme Court Judges of the Creek Nation as to the legalities of the action of the Council, the matter ends here until the Creek election in September, when a new chief will be elected.

In the meantime, treasurer Grayson says he will proceed to pay out the $200,000 on deposit to the people, which will give every man woman and child about $14 per capita and make money flush in the Creek Nation for awhile.
