

Copy 1849 July 5

Dear Lyurgus. Your letter written on the 7th & 9th June came to hand by yesterday mail - I am truly sorry to learn of your indisposition, but trust I pray that you have entirely recovered ^{by this time} and that you will enjoy ~~some~~ ~~repeated~~ health in future. We are all well, excepting ~~the~~ little blacky - one died a few days ago; - Pitts Child by Lady Ann, born about six weeks ago. I am now at Richard, where I have kept Lou & Peter for the last ten days in consequence of the sickness of my place caused by the Pond near the house, which is full of water all the time - the rain has not yet ceased, such damp & gloomy weather I have never witnessed before - I anticipate much sickness in the country. We had a great meeting at Wheelock on both Saturday and Sunday. Your sister Lavinia came forward and took the Assurance seat, at which the whole congregation melted into tears. Every body thinks well of Lavinia - they say she is very much like her ^{dear} mother, in ^{her} way. I am proud of this, and believe she will make some work of ~~the~~ Salvation of her soul.

That we may all meet in Heaven is my constant prayer.
 God intended we should meet there, he designed we should be happy and ^{to} enjoy his love ^{even} amidst the trials and sorrows during our short probation here on earth, and ^{to realize} a glorious immortality beyond the grave. Your Mother and three little brothers are there - I think of them daily and only waiting for ~~that~~ to come it shall please God to take me from hence that I may join them, never to part no more! Lyurgus, you know not how thankful I feel ~~to~~ when I see your Sister making her way through the crowd to come near to God for I had been praying especially for her that morn-ning, and I did not, ^{forget you Sycamore} and have never since, Ceased praying for you. Your father can't forget his absent son though all others may for a time forget you. Your little sister Rhoda is as lovely as she can be, she is always in a good humour & seems happy - she is very affectionate and kind hearted. Mrs Wright thinks she is a wonderful child.

Rhoda says she dont like proud people, but I know of no one who is more fond of fine dresing than she is. She made out a very expensive bill and sent me the other day for dreses - I got them for her, for she sent word at the same time that she was going to show me and the Fuller's what she could do in the way of learning when the Examinations came on. R is very fond of reading, she reads news papers and every thing she can get hold of. She will be very proud to get a letter from you - write her a long letter.
I wish M. does not come to see me - ill would if he would let her. S. has talked a great deal about the Pitchgun family and abused them, and does not stop even shorter of insulting the female part of the family. I suspect the poor Scamp thinks we are afraid of him. He knows I am in the Church and that I will not do any thing - but he knows ^{too} that he might as well make a mountain as to scare me. He wants my property - but Sycamore, remember what I say - never while I live, nor after I am dead, will he get a cent of any thing of mine in this world. My Will is made - it is fixed strong enough for him - he may kick up against it after I am dead, but he will have more than his Match to kick against - he has already whored and ~~given~~ away ~~away~~ nearly all the property which he inherited from his father's estate. He was his father's ~~his~~ mortal enemy and has begun now on one without the least cause of provocation whatever. When I came home ~~and~~ ~~my~~ thing to please him - I shamed him ~~fatherly~~ kindness - but ~~this was not what he wanted~~ - he saw it was in bad health, declining every day and ~~he~~ ~~did~~ not live long at best - and believing I would out live her, and that he would be disappointed if he did not get a large portion of my property now, is the secret spring and cause of his Enmity against me. I am sorry for Mal - for I love her dearly - she is my own child - but she left me and is now the Companion of my Enemy. I never did like me - he cursed me once in Drakes will and all the ~~other~~ ~~parts~~ and all the Follies in the bitterest terms imaginable - & the cause of his Enmity against me was ~~the~~ ~~cause~~ of the close friendship & brotherly feeling which existed between me and his father. He hated his father because he was a good man. I - is cunning, deceitful, and has no honorable principle in him whatever. A more rotten and blacker hearted ^{man} ~~than~~ him lives not in this nation nor no where else in the world. Beware of his friendship, trust not a secret of yours to him, trust him in nothing, depend not upon him, for long ago he told every ^{thing} ~~thing~~ or you that you did in your foolish youth, and laughs about it. ~~When~~ I made a jest about the treatment you get at Spencer he said I was a "Damn fool - that I ought to be being disgusting it is admired. Much knowledge combined with wisdom makes the great man, and when you are storing up your minds with knowledge be a constant worshiper at the Shrine of Wisdom - learn the way of sound sense - truth and direction - "For all her fathers are teachers of pleasurable" - One of the best steps you can make towards such an attainment will be to ~~examine~~ ^{examine} and understand your own self. There is a most excellent little work On Self-knowledge written by John Mason, which I would recommend to you and Lou - to read during the vacation. I read it when I was about your age and found it to be the best adviser I ever had - to that book I must say I owe much of my ~~life~~ ^{life} ~~in the~~ world - I also read about the same time the book of Proverbs.

I want you to read every thing carefully, read with a critical eye improve your mind & style of writing and I shall wish you to write the history of the Choctaws when you come home. You or Lou will have to do this on your own, can write your minds upon it and not only save the few who left us of our fathers but get a name in the world for yourselves.

Well I cannot but hope that you and Lou will ~~return home to me~~ ^{return home to me} glad & to disappoint our Enemies, Enemies should not have any such Eniemies in the world. Enemies I will I have had my fair share of them in this nation - and yet I have never had a fight with a Choctaw in my life - I ^{have} escaped the pistols and the knives - I never even received a blow from one of them - the full bloods have always treated me with great respect, they have letter you and Sam both stay in Nevada - be careful one of what you eat - dont eat any fruit - no Melons or any thing that will bring on Cholera - keep out of the night air - keep yourself from being rained upon - dont allow your feet to get wet - Be regular in your habits and keep cheerful - you had better have some Cholera Medicine by you - the attack generally comes on in the night - it is easily checked when taken in the first stages. I got a letter the other day from the Agency which states that the Cholera is disappearing from there - I look for it here this summer.

I shall start down to Mountain House to attend William's funeral the day after tomorrow. I have heard no word from Sam's father or any of the family since I wrote you - I Your Cousin Tryphena Wall Stearns is dead in Daakesville a few days ago after a long sickness. She left four children. She died very young.

Jeff Wall's wife is supposed to be dead also.
I saw old Capt. M. Hamble at the Wheelock - last Sunday - he made many inquiries about you - so did Joseph Duke when I saw him at Spencer.
Thomas Baird is ~~going~~ ~~to~~ ~~go~~ to College - I shall try my best to get him off when the weather gets cool and the Cholera subsides - The Cholera is so thick on the River now that it would be unsafe in the extreme for him to go before winter. I have written this in haste -
Yr father. P. P. Pitcher
